Meet Earl McFall

Earl McFall, a life-long horseman, has compiled quite a record of high level success in the equestrian world. He has competed through the highest levels of Three-Day Eventing. He was long listed for the 2000 Olympics and competed at the Rolex Kentucky Three-Day Event. He has also competed successfully in Grand Prix Jumpers.

Earl is an active Eventing competitor/instructor with many wins. He has a special knack for finding young horses, developing them, and taking them to the upper levels of competition. He has also won National Championships in dressage, working hunters, hunter pleasure and western pleasure within the Morgan breed. A graduate "A" Pony Clubber, he is a great supporter of the program. His methodical and thorough teaching style gives horses and students confidence to achieve their goals at any level.

Earl has identified a special potential in Let's Go DF and he can't wait to develop and campaign him – with your help – through the highest levels of Eventing.

The Sport of Three-Day Eventing

Eventing is a thrilling equestrian sport that involves a rider working with a horse both on the flat and over fences. The three phases, dressage, cross-country, and show jumping, keep spectators on the edge of their seats with the mix of beauty, elegance, and pure power displayed by horse and rider. Over the centuries it has developed from the test of the ideal military charger into an exciting sport that attracts interest from all levels of sports enthusiasts.

Dressage

Cross-Country

Show Jumping

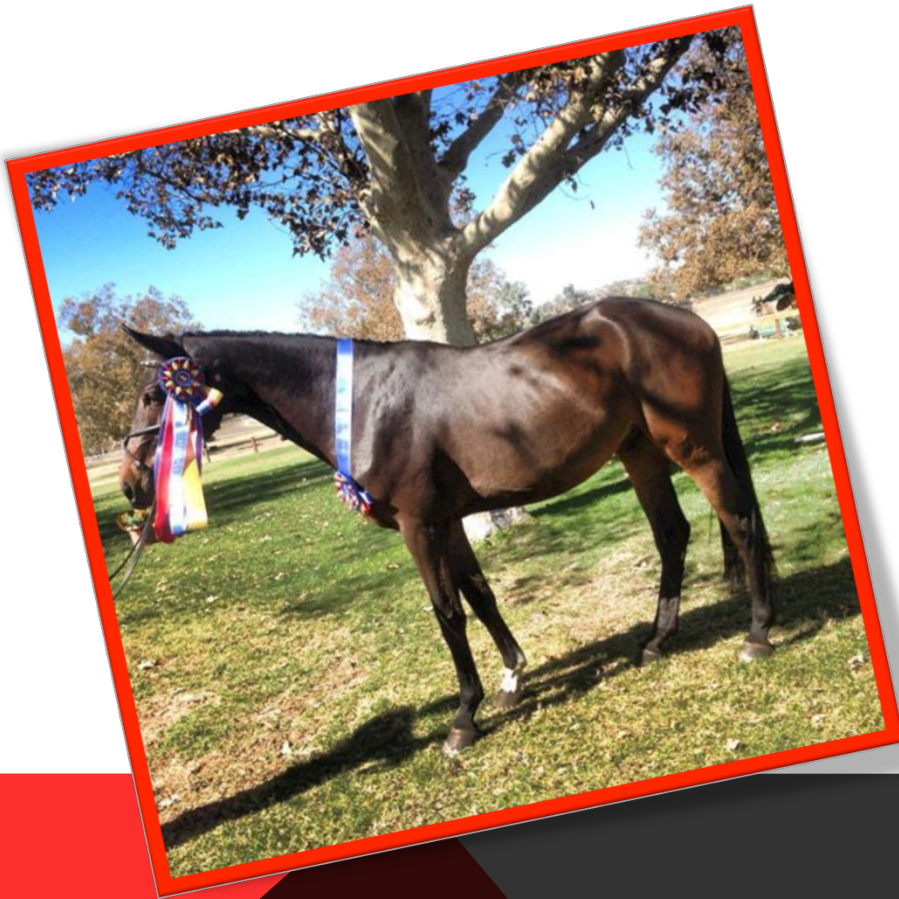

The purpose of the dressage test is to demonstrate the level of communication between the horse and rider. Throughout the test, the pair demonstrates power and grace with each movement while maintaining balance, rhythm, and suppleness.

The cross-country phase involves a set course 2.75 to 4 miles long with 24-36 fixed and solid obstacles. This course is ridden at a gallop, each level having exact speed requirements. Cross-country requires horse and rider to be bold and smart while testing their physical stamina.

The show jumping occurs in an arena and comprises of a series of colored fences, usually made up of lightweight rails that are easily knocked down. This final stage tests the stamina and recovery of the horse after the cross country phase by showing that they are fit enough to continue.
